

Birmingham Through the Ages

How has Birmingham changed over the years?

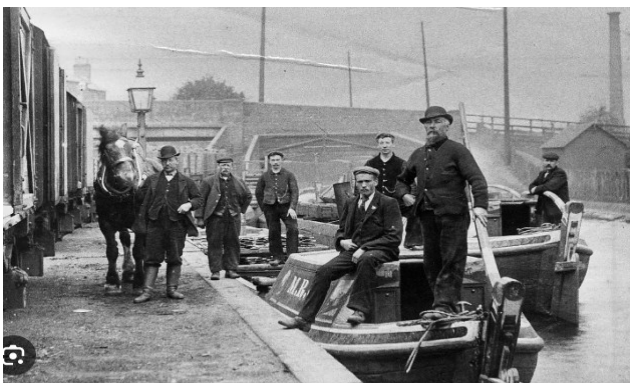

|                       |   |
|-----------------------|---|
| Settlement            | A place where people have decided to live permanently.  |
| Growth                | A settlement grows when more people live there and buildings are added.   |
| Industrial Revolution | This was a time (beginning about 1760) when people began to make things with machines rather than their hands. This led to factories being built. |
| Factory               | These are places where goods are made in very large amounts by a large number of workers.   |
| Migration             | This means people are moving to find a better place to live.  |
| Development           | This means that things (such as buildings or vehicles) are being made better.   |
| Overcrowding          | This means that so many people are living in such a small space that it is unhealthy and causing problems.  |
| Poverty               | This means people are poor and struggle to buy the basic things they need.  |
| Recreation            | This is time spent away from work doing things you like to do.It is sometimes called leisure.   |
| Transport             | These are methods for moving people or things around, such as trains and buses.   |

Cadbury's Bournville

Broad Street Birmingham City Centre

Canals of Birmingham

Travelling by tram